IODCPC 2026 — Conference at a Glance

The International Oral Diseases Case Presentation Conference (IODCPC) is a global virtual meeting dedicated to the diagnosis and management of oral and maxillofacial diseases. Unlike broad dental or medical congresses, IODCPC focuses on real-world clinical cases, practical decision-making, and interdisciplinary collaboration across specialties.

The conference brings together clinicians, specialists, senior academics, educators, researchers, and institutional leaders who actively influence clinical practice, training, technology adoption, referral patterns, and purchasing decisions within their organizations.

Participants join from over 35 countries, supported by a growing network of partner dental schools and professional associations that promote the conference within their regions, extending its reach across diverse healthcare systems and professional communities.

Through live sessions, interactive discussions, and extended on-demand access, IODCPC provides a focused environment for meaningful professional engagement rather than passive attendance.

Key Highlights

- 3-day live virtual conference (May 8–10, 2026)
- Global expert lectures and case-based sessions
- 30-day on-demand access to session recordings
- Participation from 35+ countries
- Highly specialized clinical audience
- Practice-oriented, interdisciplinary program
- Interactive sessions and real-time engagement
- Organized by Oral Pathology 360 & Oromed 360 Academy
